

ANNOUNCEMENT

Sam Austin Retires

Sam Austin of Michigan State University is retiring from the senior Editorship of Physical Review C. Sam has been at PRC's helm since 1988. PRC has flourished under Sam's stewardship due to his high standards and his stature in the field. He also oversaw the successful establishment of the online version of the journal. The entire physics community is in his debt for his outstanding leadership.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Benjamin Gibson Assumes PRC Editorship

We are pleased to announce the appointment of Benjamin Gibson of Los Alamos National Laboratory as new senior Editor of Physical Review C. Ben has long been associated with the journal, as a member of the Editorial Board and, since 1978, as an Associate Editor. He has also had a long relationship with the governance of the Division of Nuclear Physics. Ben was chosen from several distinguished candidates identified by a search committee chaired by Peter Bond of BNL.
